

Overseas internship in ecologically oriented agriculture

*The Association for AgriCulture & Ecology (Agrecol e.V.) in Germany offers internship placements and travel stipends for students enrolled in universities and colleges in German-speaking countries. In 2021, the Association can arrange one internship placement in ecologically oriented agriculture with our partner organisations Agrecol-Afrique and AgriBio Services, in Thiès, Senegal.

The internship offers students an opportunity to acquire practical knowledge in sustainable agriculture and land management in a developing country. By living and working in another sociocultural environment, students can also gain valuable intercultural experiences.

The Agrecol Association in Germany covers the travel costs for a round-trip flight between Europe and Senegal.

Further information about the internship programme and the requirements can be found in the announcement on the Association's homepage <http://www.agrecol.de/?q=en/node/122>.

The application, consisting of a convincing letter of motivation in German and French, concrete details about the desired period of internship and a curriculum vitae in German and French, should be sent by email as one pdf file to info@agrecol.de and keesgoergen@aol.com (Matthias Görger).

Further questions regarding the internship can be directed to info@agrecol.de or keesgoergen@aol.com

The deadline for applications is 18.04.2021.
