

FORLIANCE offers companies effective solutions for climate protection by developing individual climate protection strategies which include the calculation of GHG emissions, recommendations on how to reduce carbon footprints and/or advice on inssetting/offsetting through certified climate protection projects.

Within the frame of the management of an 875-ha cocoa plantation in the Dominican Republic we are offering a trainee position as

Quality Health Safety and Environment Assistant

Job description:

In close collaboration with the Chief Plantation Officer and the Agronomic, Research & Development Manager, the trainee will be in charge of the following activities:

- Support for the development of plantation procedures in accordance with current practices
- Construction of process control programs in accordance with newly created procedures (Evaluation / control of compliance with procedures)
- Study the UTZ and Rainforest certification standards and propose a two-year conversion plan
- Construction of field quality evaluation programs, in accordance with the terms of reference for agricultural tasks (Evaluation / control of the "gesture")
- Develop and carry out training for workers on the production site
- Participate and lead the internal safety and health committee
- Ensure compliance with environmental and safety Hygiene rules

Your profile:

- Quality Engineering Student or
- Agronomist Engineering Student
- Languages: Fluent Spanish mandatory, English a bonus

Duration:

- 5-6 months, starting ASAP

Location:

- Bayaguana, Dominican Republic

If we have caught your interest, please send us your application in Spanish or English, including a cover letter and CV and with your possible start date to jobs@forliance.com

More information is available at: www.forliance.com